

FIND A DESIGNER with GLOBEWEST

Leading Australian furniture brand GlobeWest launches 'Find a Designer', a free service connecting website users with interior design professionals, tailored to your interior taste.

GlobeWest Co-founder Stephen Mendel says "professional advice is something everyone should have access to. People don't realise how affordable it can be and what a great investment it is."

The organisation is fortunate to work with a huge cross section of leading design professionals from residential designers to property stylists and wanted to make it easy for consumers to connect with them.

The new find-a-designer service which sits alongside its' website's find-a-stockist function, recognises that whilst some are fortunate to have an innate flair for putting interiors together, for most, it's not easy.

Design professionals apply knowledge, experience and skills to assist home owners and renters in bringing their vision to life. With an enviable eye for detail and knowing what will work within a space, "they can help you harness your home's individuality to complement your personal style", says Stephen.

Whether your style is contemporary, modern, classic, eclectic, retreat (coast or country) - or you're undecided - 'Find a Designer', enables GlobeWest website visitors to create an ideal space with the support and guidance of professionals.

The selection of furniture is just one of the ways Design Professionals can assist people create a beautiful, functional home to match their lifestyle and tastes. In addition to being able to access the full GlobeWest collection of distinctive furniture and homewares, design professionals "will support you through colour, material, size and shape decisions whilst working within your budget", says Stephen.
